Acknowledgments

After the completion of this thesis, I owe several people a great “thank you” for helping me through this process.

First of all, I would like to thank Sperre Industri AS, who both allowed me and encouraged me to investigate their business. Thank you, Tor-André Ulla Eiken, Magne Sandvik and Birthe Gundersen for spending several hours of your time providing me the information I needed. Thank you, CFO Jon Kvalø, for providing me additional information about Sperre’s organization, and for allowing me to eat lunch for free. In addition, I would like to thank the rest of the employees at Sperre whom has been treating me nice and never hesitated when I asked for help.

A huge “thank you” is also directed to my supervisors. This thesis would simply not been competed without their help. Thank you, Professor Per Engelseth, for introducing me to the research topic and for giving me guidance in how to actually write a master thesis. And thank you, Geir Arne Svenning, for sharing your knowledge about this topic and for always being so enthusiastic about my research.

I would also like to thank my boyfriend for tolerating me the past weeks and for accepting that my participation on the housekeeping has been nonexistent. Thank you for comforting me when times were rough and for giving me high fives when things went well.

Lastly, I would like to thank my fellow students that ensured me that I was not alone feeling lost and helpless during this emotional process, and for making my two years at Molde University College highly memorable.
